A hard lesson.

My name's John and this happened to me when I was on holiday in Seville, in the south of Spain. I was having a coffee in a bar when a man came up to me. He was quite smartly dressed, and he looked very respectable.

"Do you speak English?" he asked. He definitely wasn't Spanish, but I'm not sure where he was from. "I'm very sorry to bother you, but I have a serious problem", he continued. "I'm here on a business trip, and I've lost my bag – it had my passport, my wallet, my money, my credit cards, my mobile, my address book, everything. Could you help me? I need to borrow 60 euros to get the train to Madrid – my company has an office there. I'll pay you back, of course. When I get home, I'll send you the money. You can give me your address in England".

I wasn't sure, but he didn't seem strange, so I agreed. I wrote down my home address on a business card he had, and I gave him 60 euros. I even bought him a coffee.

We chatted for a few minutes, and then he looked at his watch and said, "Well, I should get to the station. Thank you very much for your help. You'll have your money back in a couple of weeks, I promise." And he walked out of the bar.

So... do you think he paid me back? No, you're right, he didn't... and I won't lend money to strangers again!

Vanished!

One Saturday last winter, my best friends Amy, Maria, Greg, Andy and I decided to spend the weekend in my uncle's big, old house in the country. It was stormy outside, so we decided to spend a cosy evening chatting together in the living room downstairs.

Suddenly, there was a powerful gust of wind. The lights flickered and then went out altogether.

"What was that?" I said. "Don't worry, John, it's just a power cut", Greg reassured me. We carried on laughing and telling scary stories in the dark. After a while, there was a bright flash of lightning that lit up the whole room. There was a loud gasp. "Andy is missing!" Amy cried.

We all looked at each other confused and scared, because no one had seen Andy leave the room.

We felt our way around the house, calling Andy, but there was no reply. We went back to the living room and tried to think of what to do next. Just then, there was a loud snore from the corner of the room. At that moment, the lights came back on. There was Andy, fast asleep on a big, velvet sofa!

Andy sat up sleepily, rubbing his eyes. "Oh good, the lights are back on!" he said. "I was sleepy and felt like a snooze. I didn't want anyone to trip over me so I crawled over here". We were all very relieved.
